Forecast For Southwest England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Sunday 10 Oct 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Brightening up with sunny spells this afternoon.

Today:
A cloudy start for many with the odd spot of light drizzle in places, but soon brightening up through the morning. Dry this afternoon with some long sunny spells and a light north-easterly breeze. Maximum temperature 19 deg C (66 deg F).

Tonight:
It will be dry overnight with any cloud tending to dissolve away to leave often clear skies. With light winds it will turn chilly in the countryside by morning. Minimum temperature 5 deg C (41 deg F).

Monday:
Monday promises to be a fine and dry day with some decent sunny periods, with only a little fair weather cloud developing in the afternoon. Maximum temperature 17 deg C (63 deg F).

Outlook for Tuesday to Thursday:
Generally dry over the next few days with some sunshine developing at times. Where skies clear overnight it will be chilly with a risk of patchy fog.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.